(54) Title: CONTACT MEMBER FOR MANHOLE AND THE LIKE

(57) Abstract: A contact member adapted to be positioned at least partially between a cover and a frame of a manhole structure or the like is disclosed. The contact member has a first side adapted to be connected to the cover and a second side adapted to be connected to the frame and at least one compartment open to the surface of the contact member. The compartment(s) are positioned between the first side and the second side. Amongst others, the disclosed contact member allows for larger tolerances of the cover and/or frame dimension.
